MIDDLEBURY WINS ANNUAL DEBATE

Blue and White, Defending Negative, Wins From U. V. M. Decision Unanimous.

In the third annual debate between the two institutions, Middlebury upholding the negative, defeated University of Vermont in McCullough gymnasium Wednesday evening, May 3, on the question: "Resolved that the United States Should Ask the A B C Powers to Join Her in Defining and Enforcing the Monroe Doctrine". The decision of the judges was unanimous. A large and enthusiastic crowd filled the gymnasium and listened with interest to the arguments of both teams. As each institution had previously won one debate, the outcome of Wednesday's meeting was of added interest. President John M. Thomas of Middlebury College was the presiding officer and the judges were Hon. M. W. Webber, Prin. Isaac Thomas and E. R. Olney, all of Rutland.

The arguments for the affirmative were substantially as follows, the minor points being omitted.

1. The basic principle of the Monroe Doctrine must be maintained, which is that there shall be no more European colonies planted on American soil, and also that there shall be no further extension of European political system to American shores.

2. The A B C powers have a right to assist in the enforcement of the Doctrine, for it operates for their protection and they are equally affected by it.

3. The United States needs the added protection which the A B C powers would afford, for she cannot adequately defend either the Monroe Doctrine or her own territory alone.

4. The A B C powers should give the United States their moral support in enforcing the Doctrine because the lesser powers are suspicious of the United States.

5. We should ask them to join us because they are weak and need our support in protecting South America.

6. By such an agreement the A B C powers would help keep order among the lesser South American countries.

7. Such an agreement will cultivate the public good will and therefore enable the Doctrine to be carried out efficiently.

8. It would mark a possible step toward world peace.

The arguments for the negative were as follows: the United States should not ask the A B C powers to join her in defining and enforcing the Monroe Doctrine because—

1. There are ways far better suited to establish with any or all the S. A. powers those relations which will be most advantageous for all the countries, without involving the handicaps and dangers of the proposed scheme. Under this head, the following suggestions were made:

(a) Let each South American State

MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE 4 NORWICH UNIVERSITY 1

Varsity Defeats Cadets on Their Home Field. "Garrie", "Bart" and "Robbie" Feature.

Middlebury scored her third successive victory of the season by defeating Norwich University at Northfield last Saturday afternoon. It was a close game all the way, with Norwich holding a 1 to 0 lead up to the sixth inning, when the Middlebury sluggers began to get to Ogston.

Norwich tallied in the second inning when Smith reached second on a wild throw to first and came home on a clean two-bagger by Goodrich.

Middlebury evened up in the sixth on Bower's scratch hit, his steal, and a scratch bunt by Bresnahan. After the two were out in the seventh, Garrison waited out four bad ones. Brickett, running for Garry, stole second and came home on Bower's smash through the box.

Middlebury added two more runs in the eighth, Dewhirst coming home on Bresnahan's two-bagger and the latter following a minute later on a passed ball.

The features of the game were the pitching of Garrison, who held the home team to two hits, a catch of a Texas Leaguer by Bartlett, which saved a couple of runs, and a long running catch by Robinson.

MIDDLEBURY 72 UNIV. OF VERMONT 54

"Midd." Wins Clean Cut Victory in Dual Track Meet. Several College Records Broken.

Junior Week started very successfully, when the track team scored a clean-cut victory over the Vermont track and field men on Porter Field, Thursday, May 4. It was in many ways the best meet ever staged on the local track, and was thoroughly enjoyed by the large Junior Week crowd.

Six of the old records were broken, and Lee was probably prevented from disposing of another in the high hurdles, owing to a mistake on the part of some of the officials. The meet was very close throughout and the result was in doubt up to the last few events, when Middlebury forged ahead.

In the 100 yard dash Lee got a beautiful start and just nosed out Thomas of Vermont in the closest finish of the day. The time, 10 1-5 seconds, practically equalled the record of 10 1-8 seconds made nearly twenty years ago.

In the half-mile Hollister beat out the Vermont crack, Le Baron, and incidentally clipped a second from the record time of two minutes, six seconds made by "Casey" Jones last year.

Bolster of Vermont furnished a surprise in the 220 yard dash, when he easily drew away from Darby, who was thought to have a chance in this event. The latter failed to make a good start and never once threatened the Vermont sprinter. He came back strong, however, in the quarter mile, and, coached along by Hollister, who kept the Vermont men busy, forged ahead on the upper curve and was never headed in the sprint to the tape. "Holly" finished an easy second.

In the high hurdles Lee disposed of the Vermont star, Smith, in easy fashion. He was clocked in 15 3-5 seconds, but an error on the part of officials undoubtedly deprived him of lowering his old record in this event.

Jones came up to expectations in the mile and two mile runs and easily disposed of his opponents. He also set up new records in each of these events and undoubtedly could have lowered them still further if he had been pushed at all.

MIDDLEBURY DEFEATS FRANKLIN-MARSHALL

Blue and White Defeats Pennsylvanians 5 to 4. "Robbie's" Homer Puts Game on Ice.

On Saturday afternoon the Junior Week athletic program came to a fitting close when the varsity administered a 5 to 4 defeat to the Franklin-Marshall combination. While the contest was almost free from all protests on decisions and other elements which tend to slow up the game, due perhaps in part to the good work of Umpire Keegan, there was a very noticable lack of "pep" and life in both teams. That old Middlebury fighting spunk was not present and had not Capt. Robinson broken up the game in the eighth with the longest home run ever seen on Porter Field the game might easily have gone into extra innings.

The all around playing of the team was a considerable improvement over the exhibition seen at Burlington earlier in the week. Sears, who took Bresnahan's place at third, the latter being out of the game for a few days with a sprained ankle received in Friday's game, put up a very good game both in the field and at bat. Bartlett seems to have struck his stride of last year, getting a double and a triple in four trips to the plate, while Dewhirst, who seemed to take an especial liking to Hallinger's shoots, got three singles on his first three trips to the plate, scoring two runs.

Garrison, pitching his first home game of the year, seemed to have little trouble with the Dutchmen from Pennsylvania, holding them to five hits, striking out nine and working out of several difficult positions.

For the visitors, the fielding of Herman at short, who made a fine stop and throw on Bower's hard smash in the fifth, and the hitting of Witherspoon were features.

Unprovoked Assault.

THE CAMPUS takes this opportunity of registering a protest against the assault with the fire hose, by the local police, upon the student body while parading Saturday evening, in celebration of the Junior Week successes. After having investigated the affair, THE CAMPUS is covinced that such an exhibition of unwarranted procedure, such a demonstration of poor judgment, whether the outgrowth of ignorance of duty and how best to perform the same, or simply a matter of overstepping authority, should not be permitted to pass unheeded.

The facts in the case are substantially as follows. At the conclusion of the Junior Week festivities, following the usual custom, the student body, headed by the College Band, and reinforced by a large number of sub-freshmen, started on a "shirt tail" parade through the village. When passing through the business section, the aforesaid police officers, without giving any warning whatsoever, turned the fire hose upon the advancing column. Fortunately the students happened to be in a happy frame of mind, and in the scuffle that followed nothing more serious was recorded than a thorough drenching of the police and a goodly number of the paraders.

The feeling of indignation over the regrettable affair is quite as general among the business men of the village, as among the students themselves, and the question has naturally arisen whether this is to be taken as an indication of what will happen in the future if the college men attempt to hold an orderly parade in observance of some athletic victory.

In connection with the affair, THE CAMPUS has some rather pertinent questions to ask. If these police officers had been authorized to stop the p rade, why did they not first ask, or, if you choose, order the students to disperse? Query of the police chief revealed that he issued no such orders, and knew nothing of the affair until after it was all over. But, it is explained, they were police officers, acting in the capacity of firemen, and engaged under the direction of the highway department, in washing the streets. Witnesses not connected with the college state that some time had elapsed since they had finished washing the streets, and the conviction is general that there was a "frame-up"; that they purposely awaited the opportunity to start something. Assuming that the police were acting as firemen, what authority had they to turn the hose on the students, without first giving them some warning, or some command to break ranks? Did they not know that such action clearly constituted unprovoked assault, for which they could be held liable for damages? Would any fair-minded person presume that an orderly "night shirt" parade need call forth such an open violation of law, or such excess of authority as could only be justified in case of refusal to disperse, or in the event of a riot? The local night watchman was obviously acting in a police capacity, and his handling of the fire hose was therefore unauthorized.

THE CAMPUS regrets the whole affair, especially in view of the fact that it happened at a time when so many sub-freshmen were involved. The college had been entertaining these men with a view to attracting them to Middlebury, and its success would mean much both to the institution and to the local business men. While THE CAMPUS censures severely the ill-advised and unprovoked assault of the local officials, it hopes that the students will not think of retaliating in kind; that the feeling of mutual affection of townspeople and students, for both the institution and the village, will only be cemented stronger in the future as a safeguard against an unnecessary clash of interests. The action of the Middlebury Union, in placing its protest before the Board of Trustees of the village, with suggested investigation, meets with the approval of THE CAMPUS.

Glee Club Recital.

The Middlebury College Glee Club gave an entertaining recital Thursday evening in the town hall, as part of the Junior Week program. The Glee Club, which has been under the tutelage of Dr. Cunningham and the leadership of Salisbury, '16, scored a distinct success.

Dramatic Club.

On Friday evening, April 28th, the Social Hall at Pearsons was the scene of a short entertainment. The Musigahe Club rendered several delightful selections, followed by two readings. Miss Elsie Foote, '18 read the "Soul of the Violin," and Miss Margaret Shay, '19, selections from James Whitcomb Riley. The Musigahe Club then played for dancing.

SPRINGFIELD COLLEGE WINS.

Fast Extra Inning Game Goes to Massachusetts Team by 7 to 5 Score.

In probably the most interesting game seen in Middlebury for a number of years, the crack Springfield Y. M. C. A. College team finally managed to defeat the varsity, Friday, May 5, after ten innings of the fastest kind of play. The winners, fresh from a 19 to 0 victory over the University of Vermont, whose team had defeated Middlebury earlier in the week, met with stiff opposition from the very start to the exciting finish.

There were men on the bases in practically every inning, and only fast and sure fielding kept the score down on both sides. Both Crippen and Brown were hit fairly hard, but the hits were pretty well scattered. Brown's shoots seemed to be just the kind Robinson liked, as he cracked out three clean hits, while Baird and Mitterling took a liking to Crippen's curves, especially when hits meant runs. Brown also added to his day's work by clouting out a long home run to right field.

Zielmensky started the game by grounding out to Dewhirst, but Kindle followed with a beautiful drive to the left field fence for two bases. Bower took care of Miller's roller, and Whalen was an easy victim on strikes.

Bower opened for Middlebury by smashing a clean one to right. Brickett advanced him a base on his out to short, and Bresnahan was safe on his grounder to Brown. Aylward came thru with a long sacrifice fly to left field, scoring Bower.

Springfield went out in order in the second, but Midd. added another run in her half on Robinson's hit, his steal, and another hit by Christian. Bresnahan started things in the third by sending out a liner to center. Aylward was out on a fly to the same place, but Dewhirst drove out a long one to right, on which Tommy went to second and came home on Robby's liner to center.

Springfield was unable to score until the fifth, when Brown knocked a homer to right field. Zielmensky followed with a base on balls, but was forced at second by Kindle. Miller came thru with a long hit to right, which was handled slowly by Aylward, and Kindle crossed the rubber with the second score of the inning.

In the next inning Springfield evened up things by getting another run. After Bigler had gone out, Dewhirst to Christian, Baird poked one to right and took second on the throw in. He came home on Mitterling's smash thru second.

Springfield looked to have the game put away when she scored two runs in the ninth. Zielmensky started off by getting in front of one of Crippen's shoots. Kindle sacrificed him to second. Miller beat out a scratch hit, and after Whalen had flied out to Sears, Bigler came across with a clean single, scoring Zielmensky and Miller.

Middlebury showed the old fighting spirit in her half, and came back strong with two runs, tying up the score again. Bullis, batting for Christian, lined out a clean two-bagger to right. Mott, batting for Crippen, rapped one to the pitcher, who caught Bullis going to third. Bower got on thru an error by short, and Brickett brought Pollard, running for Mott, home on his hit. Sears smashed one over short, on which Bower tallied.

In the first half of the tenth, Baird, the first man to face Garrison, made a clean hit to center. Mitterling followed with another hit, putting Baird on third. Mitterling stole second and came home directly behind Baird on a perfectly executed squeeze play, Sermon laying down a pretty bunt.

For Middlebury, Dewhirst got hit and Robby grounded out to the pitcher. Bartlett smashed one to centre field, on which Dewhirst tried to score, but was out on a fine peg to the plate by Bigler. Bullis ended the game by fanning.

It was a hard game for Middlebury to lose, but to be defeated by the team that represented Springfield would be no disgrace to any college team. If the Midd. team can display the same kind of form against Vermont, there is no cause to have much fear of our up-State rivals in their next meeting.

Goddard presented a well balanced team in all departments of the game and proved to have the best prep. school nine that has visited Middlebury for a number of years.

declare a similar doctrine of its own.

(b) Let the United States formulate a better code of International Law for the American continents than now exists, and establish a Pan-American tribunal for the settlement of all disputes pertaining to the Western Hemisphere.

(c) Let the United States complete the list of Bryan Treaties; and also establish consular extradition and commercial treaties with South America.

(d) Let the United States improve her diplomatic and consular service with the South American countries, thereby promoting the general feeling of good will.

(e) Let the United States seek to establish postal, fiscal and commercial unions with individual South American countries to promote our mutual economic welfare.

(f) Promote the general welfare of the American continents through the Pan-American Union, which has done excellent work so far.

2. Such an alliance with the A B C powers would be highly inexpedient because:

(a) The basis of the proposed redefinition is too narrow—only three out of the twenty South American republics, all of which the U. S. recognizes on equal footing, would be thereby represented.

(b) It would expand what is now the permanent interest of the United States to include also the permanent interests of the A B C powers, which is objectionable because of the diversity of interests of the four powers concerned.

(c) It would destroy the flexibility of the Doctrine, and thereby render it incapable of adaptation to varying circumstances.

(d) It implies a defensive alliance with the A B C powers, which is objectionable because it would benefit neither side.

3, Such an alliance would be positively dangerous to the peace and safety of the U. S.

(a) In case of defensive warfare the U. S. would commit its safety to the mercy of the A B C powers, for they would control all concerted action on the part of the allies.

(b) It would involve the U. S. in unforseen entanglements with foreign powers.

(c) In case of a serious national crisis in which the vital interests of the U. S. conflicted with the vital interests of the A B C powers, the U. S. would be forced to break its agreement.

(d) The U. S. agrees in advance to suggest and enforce a doctrine which, by hypothesis, can not be predetermined, and is beyond the power of the U. S. to control.

The rebuttal consisted largely in restating on both sides the points made in the main speeches, and pointing out the failure of either side to maintain its arguments and adequately answer those of its opponent. The verdict of the judges was unanimously in favor of the negative side.

The Middlebury team was composed of Edmunds, '17, Floyd, '16, and Buffum, '18; while Vermont was represented by Isham, '16, Woodward, '18, and Johnson, '18.

Prof. Edwin Hall Higley.

As the Campus goes to press word was received of the death of Prof. Edwin Hall Higley, of the class of '68, at Groton, Mass. Prof. Higley was a member of the college faculty thirty years ago.

TRACK TEAM MEETS ST. LAWRENCE

Leaves Friday for Dual Meet with New Yorkers at Canton.

Coach Holmes and Manager Paulsen of the Track Department, accompanied by the varsity squad, will leave Friday for Canton, N. Y., where the blue and white athletes will measure strides with the St. Lawrence University team on Saturday.

Middlebury and St. Lawrence fought out an interesting meet a year ago on Porter Field, from which Middlebury emerged victor, and while a repetition is anticipated this year, St. Lawrence can be depended upon to make it interesting until the last event has been decided. The following men will be taken along: Lee, Darby, Sterns, Peabody, Hollister, Jones, Cullen, Hard, Brewster, Tatro, Condit, Horsford and Paulsen.

Co-operation.

There has been such a demand, on the part of Middlebury alumni, who are teaching, for material for college exhibits, etc., that the Dean's office has added to its equipment a fine collection of pictures, banners, seals and other decorating material which is proving of much interest to prospective students. Any alumnus may have the collection sent free, upon request. It is a splendid lot of material for helping out in the matter of decorations at preparatory school functions and college club entertainments. Many of our alumni have already availed themselves of the opportunity of bringing our Alma Mater to the attention of the people in the communities where they are located and are most enthusiastic over the interest aroused in Middlebury.

MIDDLEBURY 72, VERMONT 54.

FRANKLIN-MARSHALL DEFEATED

Middlebury scored first in the fourth. Robinson the first man up was out on a long fly to right field. Mott was out on an easy roller to the pitcher. Then Dewhirst came through with his second hit of the game. Bartlett then hit for three bases into right center scoring "Dewey" for the first run of the game. Sears followed him with a smash through short, which went for a hit, scoring "Bart." Christian made the third out on a fly to third.

The vistors came back in the next inning, however, scoring three runs on three hits, two errors and a base on balls after two men were out.

Middlebury came back in the first of the sixth, scoring two more runs on singles by Mott, Dewhirst and a double by Bartlett.

No scoring for either team in the seventh, but the first of the eight saw saw the visitors tie the score after Herman had struck out. Honsberger drew a pass, went second on an error by Mott, and scored on a wild pitch. The next two men were easy victims by the strike out route.

With both pitchers working effectively it looked like another extra inning game as Middlebury came to bat for her last chance in the eight. Brickett was an easy out on an attempted bunt. But Robinson, next man up, swatted the second ball pitched for a home run, the ball leaving the field near the west entrance. This ended the scoring of the game.

The visitors in their final chance made one last attempt, when Geer, a pinch hitter, drew a pass, but Hallenger, next man up, hit into a double play stopping all chances on their part to score, as the next man, Herkso, was an easy out on a roller to second.

SUMMER SCHOOL PLANS MATURING

The French and German Schools Unique Features.

Requests have recently come to THE CAMPUS for more complete information in regard to the Summer Session than has appeared in any previous issue.

While we do not here include the full details, we desire to give a fairly comprehensive summary of the general plan, and to call special attention to the new and most important features of the session. More detailed information may be found in the complete bulletin which will be in circulation the latter part of next week. Application should be made to Dr. Edward D. Collins, Director of the Summer Session.

Perhaps the most unique feature of the 8th Summer Session is the newly organized German School, under the direction of Prof. Lillian L. Stroebe, Ph. D., of Heidelburg University. This school is to occupy Hepburn Hall, our new college dormitory, exclusively, and arrangements have been made so as to make the life of a purely German atmosphere. The school has its own distinct dining hall, also lecture hall. Meetings will be conducted entirely in German, and the school will have its own religious services on Sunday, as well as lectures, entertainments and readings during the week. All students agree to speak no hing but German, and an instructor accompanies every five or six students on their walks about the country. Ample provision has been made to meet the needs of every student, and individual attention is a special feature. It is significant to note that every teacher is a native born German, and there is no institution of learning in the East similar to or even approaching it, although Middlebury's success in this line has promoted attempts at similar enterprises.

The French School, which is to be located in Pearsons Hall, will be run on the same general plan as indicated for the German School. It will be conducted by M. Williamson de Visme, a native of Middlebury, and who later attained great success in linguistics at Chicago University. At the present time he is director of the Ecole du Chateau de Soisy, France, where he has gained a wide reputation on rccount of his marked success. The College Library contains a book by Miss Miriam I. Kimball, describing M. Williamson's school and his work there. The success of his work at Middlebury Summer Session two years ago caused much favorable comment from outside sources.

Every opportunity will be given the student to acquire as rapidly as possible a practical working knowledge of the French language, and the social hall in Pearsons will be set apart three nights in the week for entertainments and lectures in French. Comprehensive courses covering Phonetics, Methods of Teaching, Pronunciation, etc., will be given, and also a new and special course for qualified students consisting of a class of children for pedagogical demonstration in methods of teaching French. The present indications are that there will be a large enrollment in the French School.

In the English School there are several important additions. Doctor Collier of Brown University, who has taught at the Summer Session for three years, will give special courses in History not contemplated in our curriculum. He will make a special social and economic study of modern developments in English with special reference to the great world crises. He will also give a new course covering the French Revolution of the Napoleonic era. The Carnegie Endowment has authorized the College to appoint Doctor Collier as lecturer on International Law. It is anticipated that the courses will be of especial benefit and interest in view of the European war.

Professor Morgan will give two courses in his field, the one pertaining to Industrial Problems, and the other, Social Relations. This latter course is comprehensive, touching upon all sorts of economic problems of modern society, such as criminology, vice and crime, prison reforms, marriage, family, suffragism, etc.

Doctor Lambert will offer two courses in Biology; one, a course for advanced students, and the other for less advanced students and especially suited to meet the needs of those who desire to teach the subject. A prominent feature of this course will be field work in which definite territory will be assigned for the collection of specimens. A day of gathering specimens will be followed by a period of classification and lectures, thus adding interest as well as a practical application of the theories studied.

In the department of Literature, Dean Wright will offer a new course in 17th Century Literature which will include the practical history of the period. The course will center prominently around the works of John Milton. He also offers another course on the Principles of Poetics, and in connection with this a series of lectures will probably be given which will be open to the public.

The School of Vocal Music is offering us several especially attractive features for the coming season. It is personally conducted by Miss Minnie Hayden of Steinert Hall, Boston, who is widely known in operatic circles. Private lessons in vocal music may be obtained here at rates far below the usual cost, thus offering unusual opportunities to the student of limited means. Miss Hayden declares that the six weeks of daily work offered here will accomplish more than the regular nine months' course with recitations twice a week, because of the uninterrupted contact of teacher and pupil. Courses in Song Interpretation, Oratorio and Operatic Arias will be offered. A new and special feature will be the course in Public School Music designed especially to train for public school instruction in vocal music. Aside from the regular courses, informal choruses and recitals will be given throughout the summer for the benefit of the College as a whole.

Information in regard to the courses in Physical Education will be given in a later issue of THE CAMPUS. Anyone desiring special information not included in the bulletins and circulars should apply to Dr. Edward D. Collins, director of the Summer Session.

Baseball Schedule.

The baseball schedule for the balance of the season is as follows :

MIDDLEBURY ALUMNUS DIES IN WEST

Rev. E. F. Wright, Class of '70, Passes Away Suddenly.

(From Lexington, Ill., Unit-Journal.)

The people of Lexington were surprised and shocked to hear of the death of E. F. Wright, editor of the Unit-Journal, which occurred at his home early Monday morning at 3:00 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Wright had been in failing health for the last three years, suffering from bronchial trouble and other ailments, but his death came suddenly, as he seemed to be in his usual health Saturday and Sunday. He was on the streets Saturday, greeting his friends, and Sunday was at church, taking part in the service.

Eugene Franklin Wright was born in Shoreham, Addison county, Vermont, July 21, 1842, the oldest son of Samuel and Minerva (Knowlton) Wright. When one year old his parents moved to Jackson county, Michigan. Here his brother Charles and sister Florence were born, and here his father died in 1864. His sister Florence and he were taken in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Robertson, who were his foster parents.

May 17, 1861, Mr. Wright enlisted in Company K, Second volunteer infantry, United States army. In this regiment he served for more than three years in active service and participated in many of the great battles, from the first Bull Run to the Wilderness campaign. His regiment was in the Peninsula campaign and the seven days' battle in front of Richmond and second Bull Run. This regiment was one of the heaviest losers in killed and wounded during the war, and the depleted ranks had to be continually recruited. It had 224 men killed in action and 175 died from disease. During his army service Mr. Wright suffered a severe illness which came very near resulting in his death, but after many weeks' sickness he recovered and was honorably discharged from the service, June 29, 1864.

In 1866 he entered Middlebury, Vt., College, from which he graduated in 1870, and in 1873 received the degree of master of arts. From 1870 to 1872 he served as principal of Royalton Academy. In 1872 he was licensed to preach by the Association of Ministers and Congregational churches, and his first pastorate was at Danby, Vt. In 1873 he was ordained to the ministry, and a year later he resigned his charge at Danby and came to Chicago, where he entered the Chicago Theological Seminary, from which he graduated two years later. Since that time he has served as pastor of churches at Seward, Rockton, Crystal Lake, Huntley and Dwight, Ill.

November 14, 1871, Mr. Wright was united in marriage to Mrs. Ellen Marsh of Norwich, Vt.; a son, Robert H., was born to this union July 4, 1874, who resides at Freeport. Mrs. Wright's death occurred and he came West soon after. September 7, 1876, he was married to Miss Samatha Stone of Seward, and to this union were born two children, Florence E. snd Clarence W.

June, 1900, Mr. Wright moved with his family to Lexington, having bought the Lexington Unit, and later purchasing the McLean County Journal, consolidating the two newspapers under the name of Unit-Journal, which he has successfully conducted.

Rev. Mr. Wright was a conscientious Christian gentleman whose daily life was a living example of a true Christian, high manhood and an honorable citizen, a man who believed in love and sympathy for his brothers and the fatherhood of God.

Surviving Rev. Mr. Wright are his wife, Mrs. Wright, two sons, Robert H. of Freeport, and Clarence W. of Normal, and one daughter, Florence E., at home, and one brother, Charles Townsend, of Crown Point, N. Y. Mr. Wright was a member of the Middlebury chapter of Delta Upsilon.

JUNIOR PLAY, "MARY GOES FIRST"

The festivities of Junior Week were brought to a fitting close in the McCullough Gymnasium with the presentation by the members of the 1917 class of the three act farce entitled "Mary Goes First". The splendid evening, the large crowd in attendance, and finally the excellent presentation, united to make the play a great success.

The scene of the play was the drawing room of a young English lawyer, and it had for its inspiration a social tradition. Instead of portraying English autocrats it exhibited people who were merely ambitious of aristocracy, who might be termed social "climbers", and many were the amusing complications into which they became entangled because of their failure to understand the principle governing true aristocracy.

Lady Bodsworth at the start had precedence over Mary Whichello, who although without the former's social standing was her superior in every other way. The humor of the play centered largely around the encounters of these two and the consequences resulting from Mary's calling Lady Bodsworth an "impropriety". While the ladies were busy with their social difficulties Richard Whichello was having his own troubles trying to decide whether he had better turn Liberal and run for office or not. Finally, spurred on by his wife, he entered the field, and when he was not busy trying to smooth over the scrapes in which his wife's tongue involved them, or playing golf, he was delivering speeches written for him by the young lawyer, Felix Galpin, who was in love with Whichello's ward, Ella Southwood.

Sir Thomas Bodsworth was the ever ready champion of his wife in her altercation with Mary Whichello. Mr. and Mrs. Tadman were the mediators between the two factions, the former as a lawyer, and Mrs. Tadman by her charming manner. Whichello, much to his wife's chagrin, finally became convinced that his views were not Liberal and resigned his candidacy in favor of Galpin, whom he supported financially in his campaign for office. Mrs. Whichello was all the while working to secure a baronetcy for her husband in order that they might precede Sir Thomas Bodsworth and his wife.

Dr. Chester, the rich uncle of Galpin, on learning of the latter's love for Ella Southwood, came to his aid and agreed to tide him over for a year. Harvey Betts, a Liberal Whip, came to see Richard and Galpin and the former finally received the much desired Bart. after his name, to the delight of his wife. Galpin won out in the election and thereby secured the charming Ella Southwood for his betrothed. In the Epilogue, when the party went in to dinner, Mrs. Whichello should have preceded Lady Bodsworth, but very graciously gave up that hard earned honor

VARSITY LOSES TO VERMONT.

Green and Gold Captures Slow Game on Centennial Field.

The University of Vermont triumphed over Middlebury in their first clash of the season at Burlington, Monday, May 1. The Middlebury team was decidedly off form in all departments of the game, not being able to field the ball with any degree of accuracy, nor able to hit when hits meant runs. The men were up against a good pitcher in Palmer, who had a fine assortment of curves and good control. Crippen got a bad start when Vermont scored three runs in the first inning, and this lead seemed to take the fight out of the whole team.

The Midd. infield was pretty loose with the exception of Christian, who put up an excellent game both in the field and at the bat. For Vermont, outside of the work of the battery, Bell at shortstop was the stellar performer.

After Middlebury had been retired in order in the first inning, Pike led off with a bounder to Crippen, who threw him out at first. Butler followed with a grounder to Bower, who made a clean stop, but stumbled when he started to throw, so that the runner reached first. Bell hit to Crippen, who threw too late to catch Butler at second. Hamilton walked, filling the sacks. Sunderland knocked a roller thru Bower, scoring Butler and Bell. After Dewhirst had retired Berry at first, Mooney hit one in front of the plate, scoring Hamilton.

Middlebury made her only score of the game in the third. Mott started things by reaching second on a wild throw by Bell of his grounder. Christian smashed a hot one thru short, on which Mott took third and Chris. second. Crippen grounded out to short. Bower hit one thru second, bringing in Mott.

In the fifth Mott hit a slow one toward third and was safe. Christian grounded to Palmer, forcing Mott at second. Crippen hit one thru first. Bower failed to connect, while Dewhirst smashed one directly over third, on which Mooney made a great one-handed horseshoe stab, retiring the side.

Palmer reached first on Bresnahan's error. Pike bunted toward third, but a mix-up gave him his base. Butler hit to Dewhirst, who threw too late to catch Pike at second. Bell cracked a grounder thru second, bringing in Pike and Palmer. Hamilton hit a bounder to Bresnahan, who nailed Butler at the plate. On Sunderland's grounder, Bower made a good play to the plate, just nipping Bell. Berry ended the inning by grounding out to Crippen.

In the sixth, Garrison replaced Crippen in the box, Brickett went behind the bat and Aylward to right field. Vermont made the final score of the game in this inning. Mooney was safe on Bresnahan's fumble. Fitzpatrick fanned on a low drop which Brickett let by, so that both runners were safe. Palmer bunted out to Garrison, but Pike followed with a long sacrifice fly to Bartlett, scoring Mooney.

In the unlucky seventh, Vermont certainly had a lot of horseshoe luck. Brickett opened hostilities by lining a hot one directly into the hands of the second baseman. Aylward followed with another drive to the shortstop, but Christian had a little better luck, placing one in left center for two bases. Garrison cracked one in in the direction of second base, which the shortstop took in with one hand. This was some hard luck from a Middlebury standpoint, for if any one of these drives had varied only a little, runs would have been the result.

In the eighth, after two were out, Bresnahan lined a three-bagger over third, but Robby could not bring him in. Aylward poled a three-bagger over the track in the ninth, but the necessary hit was not forthcoming to bring him home.

It was surely disappointing to the large crowd of Midd. supporters, who went to Burlington on the special, to have our team outhit Vermont 8 to 3 and then play so loosely in the field that the game was virtually handed our up-State rivals.

Drawings for Rooms for 1916-17.

On last Saturday at 10 o'clock, under the supervision of Asst. Dean Wiley, drawings were held for the assignment of rooms in the men's dormitories for next year. By making a deposit of five dollars, students were allowed in the order of their respective classes to choose their rooms. The general sentiment seemed to be in favor of Hepburn Hall, a goodly number of each of the $50, $60, $70, $80 and $100 rooms being chosen. A number also expressed their preference for rooms in Starr and Painter Halls for the ensuing year.

The Chime Ringers.

As a result of the tryouts for the positions of chime ringer and assistants, the following men have been selected: chimer, LeBaron Manzer, '19; assistant chimers, Lang, '17, Chapman, '18, and Axt, '19. The judges were Professors Cunningham, Collins and Assistant Dean Wiley. The chimes are to be rung every evening from 5:45 to 6:00 p. m., and Sundays from 4:45 to 5:00 p. m.

and herself scorted Lady Bodsworth, thus bringing the play to a pleasing close.

The cast, which showed great natural talent as well as careful training, was as follows:

Sir Thomas Bodsworth, Dan O. Mason
Richard Whichello, John A. Reynolds
Felix Galoin, Charles R. Lee, jr.
Dr. Chester, Theodore H. Dewhirst
Mr. Tadman, Charles A. Danolds
Harvey Betts, William H. Edmunds
Dakin, Carl H. Moulton
Pollard, Norton M. Williams
Lady Bodsworth, Helen E. Linnell
Mary Whichello, Katherine Ball
Ella Sauthwood, Doris A. Richards
Mrs. Tadman, Marjorie E. Leach

The coaching of Prof. Burrage was in great measure responsible for the fine interpretation given the various characters. The play was staged very effectively, the costumes worn by the young ladies were magnificent, and the whole affair was a credit to the class of 1917.

The committee in charge was composed of Miller, chairman, the Misses Ball, Frost, Heaphy, and Messrs. Coates, Grant, and Williams. The hall was packed, there being about four hundred and fifty in attendance, and nearly $125 was realized by the class from the performance. During the intermissions the college orchestra rendered several selections very creditably.

Death of Edward H. Phelps a Trustee of Middlebury College.

On Thursday, April 27th, the Hon. Edward H. Phelps died at his home in Fair Haven. Since 1891 he has been a trustee of Middlebury College and has always taken an active interest in the welfare of the college.

Mr. Phelps was born in Ticonderoga, N. Y., January 16, 1839. He attended Middlebury College and was a member of the class of 1861. He was a member of the Chi Psi Fraternity and took an active interest in college activities while here.

After his graduation Mr. Phelps studied law and later entered the banking business. He has followed this career for the last twenty years, being cashier of the First National bank of Fair Haven. He was a member of the Vermont Constitutional Convention in 1870 and a member of the legislature in 1896.

Middlebury Sends the Band to the U. V. M. Game.

Monday, May 1, was appointed as Tag Day to raise money to pay the expenses of the college band to the baseball game to be played with U. V. M. the same afternoon. More than the usual college spirit was shown on the occasion, and the students, as a whole, cheerfully contributed. The band made a fine showing at Centennial Field, marching onto the grounds just before the game, playing a stirring march. We have no apologies to make for our band when competing with the green and gold—it is right there every time. The college may well be proud that she has a band that can more than stand up with her rivals when fighting for her laurels.

New Office for Treasurer.

The office of the Treasurer of Middlebury College is removed from the bank building to commodious rooms in the Battell block, directly over the post-office.

JUNIOR PROM. BRILLIANT AFFAIR

Record Crowd Attends Annual Function—Music by McEnnelley's Orchestra.

The annual Junior Prom. was held in McCullough Gymnasium Friday evening, May 5th, with a large gathering, which numbered many out-of-town guests in attendance. The Prom. was one of the most brilliant social functions ever held on the hill, and scored a distinct success for the class of 1917. The music, which was furnished by McEnnelley's singing orchestra of eight pieces of Orange, Mass., was one of the features of the evening, and undoubtedly responsible in a large measure for the record crowd of 95 couples that thronged the Gymnasium floor when the grand march started. Dancing began at eight o'clock and continued until two o'clock a. m., with an intermission of three-quarters of an hour at 10.30 for refreshments.

The Gymnasium was tastily decorated with streamers of purple and white, the class colors, and the stage where the orchestra was situated had been converted into a palm garden for the occasion. No pains were spared in converting the hall into the most attractive appearance possible.

The patrons and patronesses were President and Mrs. John M. Thomas, Prof. and Mrs. P. C. Voter, Prof. and Mrs. L. I. Bonney and Dean Eleanor M. Ross.

The Junior Prom. committee to whose efforts the success of the Prom. was directly due, was composed of Charles R. Lee, chairman; J. A. Reynolds, M. L. Hard, H. A. Damon, Miss Simms, Miss Cussons, Miss Bullis, and E. T. Horsford, ex-officio.

ALBANY TEACHERS AGENCY

Incorporated

Supplies Schools of All Grades with Competent Teachers
Assists Teachers in Obtaining Positions

We receive calls for wide-awake and progressive teachers from every State in the Union. and we want more such teachers upon our lists.

We believe no agency in the country has done more for its clients or secured positions for a larger proportion of them. For several years we have had more positions than candidates, and we can certainly be of service to college graduates who wish to teach and WHO ARE QUALIFIED TO DO GOOD WORK.
